

CONTRIBUTORS TO THIS ISSUE

E. GAULT FINLEY is an Associate Professor and member of the Department of History and Philosophy of Education in McGill's Faculty of Education. He holds an Ed.D. in Social and Philosophical Foundations of Education from Columbia University.

NORMAN FRANCE, formerly Chief Educational Psychologist to the Kent Education Committee and President of the National Association of Inspectors and Educational Organisers (Britain), is now Associate Professor of Education at McGill. Dr. France, whose Ph.D. is from the University of London, is author or co-author of many publications, including the France-Wiseman Educational Guidance Programme and The Certificate of Secondary Education (Collins, 1965).

MARGARET GILLET, editor of the McGill Journal of Education, is Associate Professor and Chairman of the Department of History and Philosophy of Education at McGill. Her doctorate in Education is from Columbia University and her professional writings include a history of education to be published this summer.

WAYNE HALL is Dean of the Faculty of Education, McGill University. Professor Hall's publications include Growth Through the Language Arts.

S. CHRISTOPHER M. HAWKINS, D. de l'U. Paris, is Chairman of the Department of Language Instruction in McGill's Faculty of Education. Dr. Hawkins' essay in this Journal is taken from a manuscript he is preparing for publication in book form.

MONIKA KEHOE is Professor of English and Chairman of Applied Linguistics at Marianopolis College, Montreal. Dr. Kehoe has her Ph.D. in English from Ohio State University and is a specialist in the teaching of English as a second language.

GERALD MCKAY has his Ed.D. in Educational Psychology from Harvard University and is Chairman of McGill's Department of Educational Psychology.

MARSHALL McLUHAN is Director of the Centre for Culture and Technology, University of Toronto. Dr. McLuhan is widely admired and respected for his ideas on communication theory and for his books (The Mechanical Bride, The Gutenberg Galaxy, Understanding Media). He has made public impact through his appearances on film, radio, and television.

DAVID MUNROE, formerly Director of McGill's Institute of Education, is Vice-Chairman of the Quebec Royal Commission of Inquiry on Education and Vice-Chairman of the Superior Council of Education.

ROLAND J. WENSLEY is an Associate Professor and Chairman of the Department of Methodology in Social Studies in McGill's Faculty of Education.

RICHARD WHITWELL is a graduate of the University of London and of McGill, Chairman of the Department of Methodology in Mathematics and Science in McGill's Faculty of Education.