

ERRATA

On p. 104, Volume 30 # 1, Winter 1995 a transitional paragraph was inadvertently omitted which changed the intended meaning of the author.

Following the paragraph beginning with "There is an interesting category. . . ." a paragraph should be inserted and the quote revised as follows:

Let us review what Sanders is getting at in an effort to expose this new form of vacuity in education. Here is a(n) [admittedly contrived] sentence that he offers as evidence of "Double Adjectival Vacuity."

If future teachers are to foster meaningful performance-based outcomes (author's emphasis), they will need to adopt flexible teaching-and-learning strategies (author's emphasis) that promote both essential individualized competencies (author's emphasis) and positive collaborative experiences. (author's emphasis). (p. 74)